2	Christopher Paluch	Elora, Ontario	tophrsol@hotmail.com	It is with deepest sympathy that I send my most heartfelt condolences to all of the members and families of the North Perth Fire Department. The thoughts and prayers of the Centre Wellington Fire Department are with you at this difficult time. As a neighbour just to the east of you, I stood at work listening to my pager and the frantic voice of the dispatcher as Palmerston was summoned to your call, wondering the extent of the incident. For as long as I live I will recall the exact moment I heard that come over the air. As we arrived at the memorial services I was floored at the amount of emergency service personnel in attendance, however as the procession continued to the arena, we could hardly believe the tremendous amount of support from the community. The crowd seemed at times to be 20 deep during the entire length of procession. You should all be truly proud of the community that you serve in. As a fellow firefighter, to witness that sort of public outpouring of support and love, was truly touching. Stay strong, and know that your community both loves and respects our fallen heroes.	April 7, 2011

Thanks to all of our volunteers in North Perth for being there when you are needed. I hope this little poem can help ease some of the pain that you are going through. DEATH IS NOTHING AT ALL Death is nothing at all I have only slipped away into the next room I am I and you are you Whatever we were to each other That we are still. Call me by my old familiar name Speak to me in the easy way which you always use. Put no difference into your tone, Wear no forced air of solemnity or sorrow. Laugh, as we always laughed, at the little jokes that we enjoyed together. Play, smile, think of me, pray for me. Let my name be ever the household word that it always was. Let it be spoken without affect, without a ghost of a shadow on it. Life means all that it ever meant. It is the same as it ever was. There is absolutely unbroken continuity. What is this death but a negligible accident? Why should I be out of mind because I am out of sight. I'm just waiting for you for an interval, Somewhere very near, just around the corner. ALL IS WELL	March 23, 2011

314	Tom &amp;; Jackie Cyr, Paige &amp;; Erica Koch	Listowel, ON	jcyr@integratis.ca	The Oxford dictionary provides the definition of community as "all the people living in a specific locality". It really does not provide or capture the true definition of a small community. Where a stranger will say hello to you as you pass them on the street, or show thoughtfulness and compassion when least expected. A small community is where if you do not know a specific person, you do know someone who knows them and thus affects you. A small community is where someone feels the heart ache of someone they did not know. We did not know Ray or Ken directly but live in ones' neighbourhood; have a relative that worked with them; a daughter that works with a sister; a friend that is a relative. 327	Terry McKone and family	Mitchell, Ontario	terry.mckone@matthey.com	Small town living allows us to truly appreciate heros in our lives. From a young age, I have been in awe of the men who would run for the firehall when the siren rang out, including two uncles whom I considered heros. Today, while the call to duty is now electronic pagers, I have two brothers and several friends who are those same kind of heros. I have seen that bravery with my own eyes. When that call comes in, they act. Day, night, whenever. When not serving at a call, they contribute many many hours of their personal time in classrooms training, many times while the public is even unaware they are doing so. That is what hurts the most about losing Ray and Ken. Our firefighters can never be totally prepared for the unknowns they willingly challenge in responding to a call for help. These men gave their lives doing a job they were well trained for, and fully dedicated to. For that, they will never be forgotten by those of us who are, even more now, in awe of their bravery.	March 22, 2011

376	Firefighter's wife	Richmond, Texas (originally Clinton, Ont.)	casseiopia@hotmail.com	Today was the day when we said our good byes. To the two brave men who recently died. They died doing their job, fighting a fire. To do what they did, they must be admired. They were saving the home of souls they didn't know With such courage that only a fireman could show. Something had happened, though what, we're not sure for two of the men did not return from their tour. Their brothers did search and found them together But it was too late. They were gone forever. A tragic event on that March day But the brother's courage and strength never would sway. The scene became somber since two lives were lost, Becoming a hero was not without cost. These two men paid with both of their lives And thus, we must now say our good byes. They took their final ride atop the red truck With all of the fervour, one could be awestruck. Between the two ladders with the procession They honored those men in the fire tradition. An immense sea of blue followed behind With the greatest support you'll ever find. A brotherhood so close you wouldn't believe and when it was finished no one could leave. For that seemed to mean they left a brother behind And firemen know that's not how they're designed. They were both given honors, their families proud Then the radio call was broadcast allowed, That two of the men would not return home But they'll journey together and not be alone. The last bell did ring and they were carried away But they remain in our hearts forever to stay.	March 21, 2011

655	Jamie Simpson	Severn Fire & Emergency Services	jsimpson@scmfaa.ca	The men and women of Severn Fire extend our sincere condolences to our Brother and Sister firefighters affected by this terrible tragedy. "May They Not Be Forgotten" Brother when you weep for me, Remember that it was meant to be. Lay me down and when you leave, Remember I'll be at your sleeve. In every dark and choking hall, I'll be there as you slowly crawl. On every roof in fallen rain, I'll hold your coat and you will know. In cellars hot with searing heat, At windows where a gate you meet, In closets where young children hide, You know I'll be there at your side. The house from which I now respond, Is overstaffed with heroes gone. Men who answered one last bell, Did the job and did it well. As firefighters, we understand That death's a card dealt in our hand- A card we hope we never play, But one we hold there anyway. That card is something we ignore, As we crawl across a weakened floor. For we know that we're the only prayer For anyone that might be there. So remember, as you wipe your tears, The joy I know throughout the years, As I did the job I loved to do, I pray that thought will see you through.	March 19, 2011

Firefighting is a dangerous profession with many risks. In communities across this nation volunteer firefighters are the emergency service providers of their towns and villages. One does not become a volunteer firefighter for money or glory. They do it because their community counts on them. Over the years this great nation, Canada, has had many volunteer firefighters just like Ray and Ken who have been killed answering this call to duty. Over 85,000 firefighters just like them are ready and willing to answer the call from their communities, no matter the time, no matter where it is, what it involves, or what it interrupts.
